Steamer Burned—Eighty Lives Lost

[illegible] when [illegible] exploded her [illegible] upper works [illegible] away [illegible] which the wreck [illegible] the water's edge. The [illegible] of the steamer [illegible] a few miles below seeing the light from the burning wreck manned a yawl and proceeded up the river. He [illegible] a small party of survivors on the head of the [illegible] but passed on to relieve those on the wreck. [illegible] twelve were clinging to the wheel but [illegible] before he reached them and all but four were lost. He found a deck passenger near shore badly scalded, who died before he arrived at Cairo. The steamer Belle of St Louis bound up took nearly all the survivors. Pilot Harris, who was saved, says Wiggins, their Red River pilot, was drowned, and that Harry Tripp, the pilot on watch, and Captain Reeder were buried in the debris and were heard calling despairingly for help, but the fire spread so rapidly they could not be reached and were both burned. Fisher, the carpenter of the Oceanus, reached here on the steamer [illegible]. He was in bed when the explosion occurred, and although covered by fragments of the wreck escaped with only some slight bruises. He says the second engineer, Alex Kennedy, was terribly scalded and hopelessly blind. Fisher put him on a stage plank with some others. The stage soon capsized, drowning several more of them, including Kennedy. George Keothly, the first engineer, is supposed to be lost. Henry Worstain, first clerk, was not seen after the explosion, and Charles Worstain, second clerk, Jules Dennis, steward, and Charles Mavoy, cabin boy, were found dead floating in the river with life preservers on them, and were brought here by the [illegible]. It is supposed they chilled to death. [illegible] lady passengers are supposed to be lost. The bodies of four women were seen floating past [illegible] landing, but were not recovered. The boat had forty cabin and thirty-five deck passengers, making with the crew about one hundred passengers on board, about eighty of whom are supposed to have been lost. Fisher describes the effect of the explosion as terrific beyond conception, the whole upper works being lifted up bodily and falling back on the boat and in the water completely shattered. He saved himself by securing a plank and floating until rescued by the yawl.

CAIRO, April 11.—The steamer [illegible] just arrived reports the first engineer and [illegible] and thirty-two other persons are [illegible] the [illegible]. The second engineer was saved, but died from his injuries.

Chicago's Resurrection

I have been [illegible] burnt district [illegible] But you will see what is to be seen nowhere else in the world, a living city and a dead occupying the same ground. It is a strange sight [illegible] of substantial buildings and rubbish. Here is a wall [illegible] the blackened ruins though [illegible] walls of a pile [illegible] gutted by the flames, and next to it a rough board shanty with one window and a stove pipe running up through the roof. Then next to that is a handsome five story brick put up since the fire and filled from top to bottom with merchandise, then more shanties, then great bare walls of buildings in course of erection, then more of the blackest, gloomiest, saddest ruins human eye ever looked upon.

And withal the streets are well nigh impassable. Teams that no man can number, loaded down with building material, file through them. Heaps of brick, rock, lumber, lime, sand and rubbish are stacked all along. There are no sidewalks, and getting about in the burnt district is a matter of extreme difficulty. Every few blocks you will come upon a jam. A wagon has run against a brick pile, another wagon has run against that, teams going each way are blockaded and can't turn back on account of every possible obstruction being on the ground that ever went into a building, and a regular Broadway jam is the consequence. It is almost impossible to get through the burnt district with a carriage during work hours. The best way is to walk, and then you are frequently delayed, or at least have to climb over stacks of lumber and piles of brick and sand.

The scenes along the principal streets remind one of pictures of the building of Babel. Every block has its grand army of workmen, and there seems to be about as much confusion all the time as there was at Babel immediately after the confounding of language. But it is a confusion of teams and material and not of tongues, for hammers, saws and trowels made such a fuss that voices are lost.

The number of buildings under way in the burnt district, in all stages of construction, from the corner stone laying to roof fitting, is enough to convince the most skeptical that Chicago will live again as grand and massive as ever.

Steadily through the winter months, in cold and snow and rain, the work of rebuilding has gone on. And it will continue to go on until the burnt district is covered by the new Chicago. No one who will observe the amount of work already done under the disadvantages of inclement weather and high prices can doubt this. But, much as has been done this winter, ten times as much will be accomplished this summer. With April will begin an amount of building incomprehensible to any one not here to see what there is to build and the plans to be pursued.

A singular fact in connection with these gigantic operations and plans of operations is the abundance of funds. Everybody seems to have money to rebuild, or at least to make a start. The money to rebuild Chicago seems to be already at hand. Currency is abundant, more abundant than bricks in fact. This is readily accounted for. Men of wealth in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and in fact all over the country, were largely interested in real estate here before the fire, and not being seriously injured by the burning of the tenements thereon, they set about immediately to rebuild. Men who have made fortunes in Chicago town lots do not propose to withdraw from the field now [illegible] here is a [illegible] Rents are two and three times as high as before the fire, and [illegible] the amount of building done still remain at the still figure.—[illegible]

In [illegible] the [illegible] and the Seine were frozen during four weeks.

In 1323 the Mediterranean was entirely frozen.

In 1403 Tamerlane made an incursion into China and lost his men, horses and camels by the excessive cold.

In 1420 Paris experienced so great cold that the city was depopulated and animals fed on corpses in the streets.

In 1433 in Paris snow fell during forty days and forty nights incessantly.

In 1469 in France and Germany wine was frozen so hard that it was cut in blocks and sold by weight.

In 1[illegible]0 the intense cold lasted three months, and all the fruit trees of Province of Languedoc were destroyed.

In 1637 provisions and fuel became so scarce on account of cold in Paris that a small bundle of kindling brush cost forty cents; the cattle froze in their stalls and the Seine could be crossed by heavy carts.

In 1683 one third of the population of [illegible] [illegible] weeks.

In 17[illegible] was a year of intense cold all over Europe, and mass could not be said for many weeks in certain provinces because the wine could not be kept in a fluid state.

In 1[illegible] in Chinese Tartary the thermometer fell to ninety seven degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

EASTERN STATES

New York Democrats favor Passivism

NEW YORK, April 12.—A special dispatch to the [illegible] says that at a meeting of the Democratic Central Committee at Albany a consultation was had on the political prospects. Remarks were made by Gov Seymour, Mr Tilden and others. The feeling among those present was decided and unanimous in favor of the Passive policy, looking to the Cincinnati Convention to initiate its programme for the party in the next Presidential campaign.

Chicago News

CHICAGO, April 12.—Last night about eight o'clock a gentleman while walking with two ladies on Madison street, near Carpenter, on a crowded and well lighted thoroughfare, was assaulted by four ruffians and robbed of his watch and chain. Starting in pursuit, he seized one of the robbers and recovered his watch, when another of the gang drew a revolver and shot the gentleman, inflicting a severe wound in the face. The thieves all made their escape.

Railroad Collision.

ST LOUIS, April 12.—On the Missouri and Pacific railroad last evening the west bound express and the east bound accommodation train collided, smashing both engines, and throwing the express car down an embankment. The boiler of the locomotive on the express train exploded, scattering the fragments in all directions. An extra train came up almost immediately after and ran into the rear of the express train, but notwithstanding these almost simultaneous accidents nobody was hurt, with the exception of a few slightly bruised.

Florida Convention.

JACKSONVILLE, April 12.—The State Republican Convention elected six delegates—four whites and two colored—to the Philadelphia Convention. The Convention indorsed President Grant.

WASHINGTON CITY

Miscellaneous and Congressional News.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Treasury Department has made an important decision under the law of July 14, 1870, in relation to the importation of goods to inland towns. It will hereafter only be necessary to show the bill of lading in order to make the entry of goods. This will do away with much unnecessary trouble and delay.

In the House a resolution in reference to the death of Carnell, ex-member, was adopted.

In the Senate a bill for the construction of a bridge across the Missouri river near Nebraska City passed.

The joint resolution to open negotiations with the Indians of Colorado for the purpose of acquiring their lands passed.

CANADA

TORONTO, April 12.—Hon. William McDougall addressed his constituents at Almont on Wednesday evening. He deprecates the plan for a Pacific railroad on account of its great cost, and advocates cheaper transcontinental connection by water communication by Lake Superior, thence by American railroads to Red river, thence by steamer to Fort Garry and Lake Winnipeg. On the subject of the Washington Treaty he argues that Parliament cannot refuse to confirm what has been stipulated by the mother country, argues that the maritime element are satisfied with the fishing clauses, and that it was not for Ontario to raise a disturbance about it. He considered the concession made to be of great importance to the United States.

MEXICO

Texas Border Troubles

MATAMORAS, April 11.—A party of Mexicans recently crossed the Rio Grande during the night and went to Edinburg, broke open the jail, released three cattle thieves and then returned to the Mexican side. The Sheriff and citizens were previously notified of the intention to release the prisoners, but made no resistance.

Palacios reported to Washington that the Texans are organizing ostensibly to prevent depredations, but really to invade Mexico. Texans have sent to the local authorities at Brownsville a report of depredations, requesting that it may be forwarded to President Grant.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

The Alabama Claims

LONDON, April 12.—The Times in an editorial on the Alabama claims controversy, says the British Government will deliver its counter cases at Geneva on the 15th instant, but will not regard this act as prejudicial to its position in opposition to the American claims for indirect damages. If the United States shall not, before the tribunal is ready with its award, have abandoned the claims for consequential damages, Great Britain will withdraw her ratification of the Treaty of Washington.

Rear Admiral Coote has been commissioned to succeed Rear Admiral Arthur Farquhar in command of the British fleet in the Pacific.

The French Transatlantic Telegraph Company have concluded a contract with the Telegraph Maintenance and Construction Company for laying the fourth line of telegraphic cable between Europe and America.

It is announced that Lord Chief Justice Cockburn, a representative of Great Britain in the Geneva tribunal, will not attend the meeting of the Board on the 15th.

UTAH

Vile Sentiments.

SALT LAKE, April 12.—A correspondent at Beaver reports a most shameful speech, delivered there a few days since by Elder "Murrer," Mormon telegraph Superintendent. The speaker said: Rather than surrender a single principle of their religion they would burn Salt Lake City, tear up the railroads and telegraph lines, and destroy millions of dollars worth of other property. He denounced in vile terms Judge McKean and President Grant, and made outrageous remarks in reference to the President's wife.

There is but little hope of success of the admission scheme.

Five miles of the Northern Utah railroad is completed. Track laying is progressing half a mile a day.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—The currant crop of San Lorenzo, an important one in the small fruit line, was ruined by the frost on Wednesday night.

Weather still cold and unpleasant, with harsh winds.

The following mining companies were incorporated to-day: St Lawrence Mill and Mining Company, with a capital of $1 000 000, Placer county, California; Pride of the Mountain Mining Company, with a capital of $3 000 000, State of Nevada generally; [illegible] Consolidated Mining Company, with a capital of $[illegible] 000, same location.

The frost last night was more severe than that of Wednesday night. It is reported that grapes in the Sonoma Valley suffered severely.

It suddenly commenced raining hard this evening.

A charge of assault to murder was preferred this evening against the barber Wolkingem, who [illegible] Mrs Burkhardt for rejecting his addresses. She has rallied considerably within the last two days, and it is now thought she will recover.

INTERIOR CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—The Southern Pacific Railroad surveying party, under [illegible], are at Fink's Springs, 20 miles this side of Fort Yuma, and expect to reach the Colorado about the 2[illegible]. Fink's Spring is the lowest point on the route, being [illegible]0 feet below the level of the sea.

[illegible], April 12.—It has rained heavily here since [illegible] P M to-day.

VALLEJO, April 12.—Mr Daley, while excavating in a drain to-day, was buried by a sudden cave of earth and rocks, and when dug out was found to be comparatively uninjured.

REDWOOD CITY, April 12.—Joe Hirsling, the murderer of Kierok, was captured one mile from San Mateo at 6 P M, by detectives Stone and Keyser, from San Francisco. He was heavily [illegible] offered no resistance. He confessed the murder, gave all the particulars, and said he was then returning to murder Kierok's partner. His reason for the deed was that he was refused credit by his victim. This is one of the most cold-blooded and brutal murders on record.

Poison in Postage Stamps

[From the Nashua N. H. Daily Telegraph.]

A few days since Dr L. Chesley of Nottingham, a well known and prominent physician of Rockingham county, received a letter from an unknown source containing two postage stamps, with an urgent request that he should send by return mail a letter to a given address in New York city. The doctor complied with the request, using one of the stamps just received in mailing the return letter, wetting the stamp by laying it upon his tongue. He was instantly seized with a mysterious fainting sensation, accompanied with severe convulsive action of the heart, difficulty of breathing, and a pricking numbness of his whole system. He said to his wife, standing by, "I am poisoned by that stamp." She says, "It cannot be," and taking the remaining stamp applied a small portion of it to her tongue, when she was seized with precisely the same though much more severe symptoms, which have prostrated her for several days. Not more than one-twelfth part of the adhesive side of the stamp was applied to Mrs Chesley's tongue. At the time of using the stamp Dr Chesley had in his mouth a quid of tobacco, which he thinks was an antidote to the poison the stamp [illegible] contained. Your informant has the above directly from the doctor, who is a very intelligent, straight-forward man, who has his own theory for accounting for this [illegible] upon his life as he thinks it evidently was. He has had some experiences in the South in past years, and speaks of the Ku Klux in connection with this mystery. The remaining postage stamp has been sent to Boston for analysis, and the doctor is determined to know more of a case of which he now knows so little.

A DYING NATION.—The accounts of the famine in Persia which continue to arrive in greater detail bid fair to treat the world to the spectacle of a calamity the like of which has not been witnessed in historic times, at least—the sudden extinction of a nation for the want of food. This has really been the fate of the great States which once filled the Valley of the Euphrates, and it is a fate which has for centuries been threatening some modern States, Spain for instance. Man has stripped the soil of trees, the absence of trees has brought droughts, has slowly diminished the productive powers of the ground, and finally destroyed them—the population in the meantime dwindling in numbers and vitality. Spain had forty millions of people in the time of the Romans, and flowed with milk and honey; it is now an arid [illegible], only half of it under cultivation, with only sixteen millions of inhabitants, and, if modern science had not come to its aid, would probably go the way of Babylon. Persia was one of the most powerful states of antiquity, and even in the fourteenth century was able to support the army of Tamerlane, who marched without [illegible] during a bloody contest. It is now almost a wilderness, with a population of two [illegible]—about half of them [illegible], which is [illegible] perishing from famine brought on by [illegible] years of drought. The worst of it is, that owing to the absence of either common roads or railroads, it seems to be impossible for the charity of the rest of the world to reach the sufferers, so that there is really a strong prospect of the total depopulation of the country. The moral of this horrible story is—look after your trees.—The Nation.

Mrs Jane W Willis, postmistress at Ipavia, Ill, has been presented by the citizens of the town with a complete set of postoffice [illegible] and drawers. This case calls for immediate reform in the civil service. Things have come to a pretty pass when government officialesses cannot provide themselves with their own linen.

SPEEDY AND REMARKABLE CURES.

Still Another Testimonial from a Prominent Citizen of Greenville, Washington County.

TO THE AFFLICTED.—I WISH TO STATE THAT for [illegible] years I was a great sufferer with Nasal Catarrh, Throat and Lung Disease, bad discharges from my head, Cough, great difficulty of breathing, pains throughout my chest and Dyspepsia, was constantly getting weaker and losing flesh. No treatment seemed to have [illegible]. Hearing of Doctor Aborn's great success, I [illegible] to try his skill [illegible]. On the 23d of January last I visited Portland and placed myself under his treatment, and found immediate relief of my pain in the breast, and the difficulty of breathing was also relieved at once, and I have continued to improve from day to day until now I feel quite well. I can breathe freely through my nostrils, which were almost entirely [illegible]. My lungs are healing rapidly. I can now breathe quite clear and easy. I have gained about eleven pounds. My general health has been so much improved that I look and feel like a different man. I have been able to [illegible] and do other work on my farm during the last three or four weeks without experiencing any difficulty. I am satisfied that the doctor's mode of treatment is based upon scientific principles, and can [illegible] to cure [illegible] after the ordinary plans of treatment have failed.

The Daily Oregonian.

SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 13, 1872.

Brethren in Unity

We have it from the Democratic organ that "the feeling among the Democracy since the Dalles Convention [illegible]." It declares that the convention was a most "harmonious" political assemblage, [illegible] that there are "No jealousies, no heart-burnings, no rivalries, no regrets." These statements came out in the organ the morning after the "ratification" in this city which ratification was certainly the most extraordinary political scene ever witnessed here. Only those who happened to be present can have any idea of what Democratic "harmony" means.

About one hundred persons were assembled in front of the hotel at which a majority of the delegates returning from the Dalles were stopping. Several prominent politicians delivered speeches. In the course of their remarks they developed more "soreness" and dissatisfaction than was ever witnessed on any like occasion here. Gov. Grover has subsidized and secured to his service all the working element of the party, and is making a desperate push for the United States Senate. On one point and only one the speakers on Thursday evening were especially "harmonious." They were unanimously of opinion that Grover should be allowed to finish his term as Governor and should not be sent to the Senate. But Grover has been playing the game on them while they were asleep. He has "set up" the candidates for the Legislature in the various counties, and now proposes that his rivals and opponents shall elect them. He managed the Dalles Convention in the same interest, and it seems that the members of his party who don't like him have but just detected his "little game."

In curious contrast were the speeches of Helm and Hayden. Helm's discourse was a diatribe against Holladay and all his works. He denounced the Portland subsidy bill which Grover vetoed, and expressed no favorable opinion of those who supported any of the "monopolist's" measures. Hayden replied. He was in the Legislature and had supported the bill. He was heartily in favor of it and spoke severely of Grover for having vetoed it. There were only two men in his county who opposed it. These were Jack Grant and Comegys, members of the last Legislature. They had been told that there was something in the bill about Ben Holladay, and as neither of them could read they voted against it. This Grant has been set up again for the Legislature by Grover, being placed in nomination over Ben Burch, who was a supporter of the railroad and suspected of being in favor of Nesmith. Hayden would see, he declared, that Grover was not elected Senator, and exhibited much "feeling" on this point. But the gentleman from Polk is a little too late. Grover has it all set up and fixed. Messrs. Hayden, Nesmith and the rest have now nothing to do but to elect the Grover candidates to the Legislature.

With the resources which the last Legislature placed at Grover's disposal he has obtained complete ascendency in his party. The litigant patronage has set every Democratic paper in the State to piping for him. Swamp-land and school-fund management has also brought fish into his net. His subsidized strikers have been so efficiently drilled in his service that his candidates for the Legislature have been set up right through the State. The Dalles Convention added to his trophies. Discovery of these facts is what causes such "feeling" as was exhibited here on Thursday evening. Hence arises the "harmony" that is witnessed in the party.

The Democratic party is in such a situation that it can propose no policy which it can hope to make successful. It can make no fight on national issues. It can only enter into local contests for the prizes and spoils. That is the sort of contest the party wages in Oregon.

Tricks that are Vain.

Because we have remarked upon the utter silliness of imaginary "issues" as to rates of transportation which the Herald has attempted to raise, that paper rejoins that "the OREGONIAN defends the oppressors' side." "But," adds the Herald, "we shall see, one of these days, who will be the victor in this contest."

Our neighbor right here must permit an interpolation. Inasmuch as it said that the OREGONIAN has taken sides with the "oppressors" it devolves on the paper that makes this assertion to tell who the "oppressors" are. And further, who are the "oppressed?" And what is the nature of the "oppression?" Nothing has yet been specified. No particulars have been given. The Herald is simply making assertions for partisan ends, without either practical facts or abstract truth to back them.

"We shall see," says that paper, "who will be the victor in this contest." Now it is possible that the Democratic party may carry the election. But it will not be a "victor" in the "contest" that the Herald talks of, because no such contest is going on. It is all imaginary. The talk about it is the veriest bosh and trash and nonsense. Rates of transportation will not be affected in any way—no, not in the least particular—by the result of the election, whether one party or the other is victor. The Herald knows this as well as anybody. As soon as the election is over it will drop the whole subject. It will not urge it upon the Legislature when that body assembles, because it knows well enough that the Legislature cannot regulate freights and fares. That paper is simply trying a very poor and disreputable expedient in the hope of making votes for its party. It is willing to rest under the consciousness and imputation of trying to mislead the public, if it can only gain a temporary advantage. Hence its persistence in a trick that it would esteem extremely discreditable if it had reference to anything else than party and politics.

By the dispatches it will be seen that at a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee of New York, the feeling was "decided and unanimous in favor of the passive policy," and that the Democracy of that State can not adhere to the "time honored principles," but will "look to the Cincinnati Convention to initiate a programme for their party in the Presidential campaign." And has it come to this? Now we should think our bed-rock brethren in this State would come out and denounce this attempt to sell their party to the soreheaded Republicans. We would advise the delegates from Oregon to start, and as it seems there is a strong probability that they will be compelled to support the nominee of the Cincinnati Convention, let them go on at once be in at the death, and have a hand in saying who that nominee shall be. Hadn't our neighbor of the Herald better suppress his damning motto of "No New Departure," "No Possum Policy" before he finds himself running slam-bang in the face of the so-called Democratic party of the United States, a collision which would not leave enough of him for a respectable funeral. But it is really amusing to a Republican to see the straits to which the once powerful party is in. They resemble the possum in other respects than hanging by the tail or crawling backwards. [illegible] retreat when closely pursued. So with the Democracy. The march of progress [illegible] from the [illegible] from the doctrine of no coercion, to that of the war is a failure, then to opposition to the reconstruction measures, then to the new departure and recognition of these measures as fixed facts, and now they seem about to take back all they have asserted for the past twelve years, and to accept back seats among the "soreheaded Republicans and disappointed office-seekers."

OREGON.

There are a good many empty houses in Albany.

A sprinkle of snow fell at Albany on Wednesday morning.

The foundation for the new court house at Salem has been commenced.

The Oregon City Lock Company wants 400 laborers, and will pay $2 25 in coin per day.

Two prisoners, Engle and McCormick, are in the Clackamas county jail awaiting trial for the crime of murder.

Notice for sealed proposals for furnishing materials and building a bridge across the Alsea river, in Benton county, Oregon, will soon be published.

A fine thoroughbred colt, owned by William Gird of Albany, threw itself and broke its neck a few days ago. The owner valued the colt at five hundred dollars.

On Wednesday evening Albany Lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F., elected Messrs. J. F. Backensto, L. Cheadle and William S. Newbury representatives to the next Grand Lodge.

Ladorette, the half-breed, recently arrested here and taken to Albany for trial, got three years' residence in the Penitentiary for stealing "ictas" from Mr. Edward Bullinger, the brewer.

The largest blast of the season was discharged on the locks at Oregon City on Thursday. Fragments of rocks were thrown into Main street, and many of the buildings were shaken by force of the concussion.

The machinery for the new tub and pail factory at Oregon City has arrived and is being placed in running order. This machinery is all new, being manufactured in Winchendon, Massachusetts, and contains all the latest improvements.

The Register says: There has been no little excitement in relation to wool in Linn county, buyers eager to purchase and sellers eager to—get the highest figures. As high as fifty-four cents per pound has been offered since the season opened.

Under Republican rule Linn county tax-payers paid from five to eight cents per acre tax, on a valuation of from four to six dollars per acre. Under Democratic rule they pay from fifteen to thirty cents tax, on a valuation of from ten to twenty dollars an acre.

Mr. Edgar Foster, living in Eagle Creek precinct, Clackamas county, one day last week cut his hand nearly off with an ax. It was cut cross the back of the hand from the first knuckle joint to the wrist, nearly severing the hand. He will probably lose the use of it.

The Enterprise says: The following is a summary of the business transacted at the Oregon City Land Office for the month ending March 31st: Acres sold for cash, 628; original homestead entries, 2,423 acres; final homestead entries, 881 acres; pre emptions filed covering 1,600 acres.

The Statesman furnishes the following: Thursday, April 4th, a gentleman by the name of Montgomery married a Miss Davis, living in the neighborhood of Silverton, Marion county. They were married at the Union Hotel in Salem, and after the wedding ceremony was performed the groom hired a buggy and took his bride out home, and returned to Salem immediately. The next day he started for Portland, and has not been seen or heard from since. He left his valise in the stable where he hired his team, and we are told he left quite a sum of money with his wife.

Quite an interesting Missionary Convention of the Episcopal Church was held at Eugene City last week, beginning on Friday and continuing over the following Sunday. There were present of the clergy the Bishop of this Diocese, and the Rev. Messrs. Burton, Babcock, Roseburg, J. R. W. Sellwood and John W. Sellwood. The services were largely attended, and at the morning and evening services on Sunday the church was filled to overflowing, many having to go away for want of room. At the afternoon service the Bishop baptized two children and one adult and at the evening service confirmed one person.

D. B. Harrer, furnishes the following to the Advocate, from Goose Lake valley, under date of March 20: "In this valley our winter has been a very pleasant one. We have had but very little snow in the valley, but a great deal in the mountains. We have had no cold weather at all. Our deepest snow was only six inches, and did not lay on but two or three days. We have had considerable rain. Stock of all kinds looks well. We have grass now about two inches high. After spending one winter here in this valley, I pronounce this a very desirable climate. We have a very beautiful valley here about forty miles in length, and about fifteen in width including the lake. I think it is one of the most fertile valleys on the coast. Corn, small grain and vegetables of all kinds grow well. We have one grist-mill, one saw-mill, one store, two blacksmith shops, and, I am sorry to say, one brewery."

THE TERRITORIES.

The Republican County Convention of Boise county, Idaho, will meet at Centerville on the 7th of May.

The Helena Reduction Works are in full blast night and day, and tons of bullion are being turned out every week.

The assay office of Charles Rumley at Helena lately assayed the metal and turned out eight silver bricks each weighing 50 pounds.

Hon. William Lynch, member of the Idaho Territorial Council, has tendered his resignation, so it will become necessary to elect a member of the council in his place at the June election.

A dispatch from Salt Lake City announces that the official count of the votes in the recent election shows 25,160 in favor of the Constitution of the new State of Deseret and 363 against. One county—Piute—was not reported.

Rev. E. R. Geary, who has just returned from an official visit to the Lapwai Indian Agency, says that under the management of Col. J. B. Monteith, it is one of the most flourishing, smoothest running and best managed agencies on the Pacific coast.

The twenty thousand dollar Democratic defalcation at Walla Walla has not been made good and there is no prospect that it will be. Had this defalcation occurred under a Republican official, the Oregon Herald and other Democratic organs would have seen in it "another damning proof of the festering rottenness of the Radical party."

A person having been mentioned who had been notoriously unfortunate in his first marriage relation, and yet had soon afterwards married again, was asked if it was not rash to embark anew in an adventure which he had already found to be so disastrous. "No," said the philosopher elevating his hand, and his countenance glowing with enthusiasm, "it was the triumph of hope over experience."

A Wisconsin editor speaks of a wind which "just sat on its hind legs and howled."

LETTER FROM UNION COUNTY.

COVE CITY, April 4, 1872

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

SIR: That world-renowned sphere, the "political ball," has already begun its biennial revolutions in Union county, and judging from the velocity with which it was started, we would be warranted in predicting its bringing up [illegible] something [illegible] disastrously to parties of this county. [illegible] half resist, the contract for county offices is soon to be let to the highest bidder, and as the [illegible] to be filled are to the seekers as one to one hundred, there is a strong probability that some one will be left out in the cold. 'Twas ever thus.

Our present State Senator has been in the Legislature from this county for the last six years, and as a monopoly is necessarily inconsistent with long-established and time-honored Democratic principles, others, who think their time has come, cry out lustily for the removal of the "protection" which sustains this "monoply," establish "free trade" as to offices, and give them an opportunity to win a name among the princely few who do congregate at Salem, which shall be as broad as earth, high as heaven and lasting as eternity. Only this, and nothing more, for the assertion that our Senator is not a representative Democrat in every particular is groundless.

You will remember that it was generally supposed that at the last Legislature, as large a sum as four or five dollars and six bits, at least was used to secure the passage of several measures, and that certain papers have openly charged Mr. Hendershott with having drawn a check for $3,000 before his approval of them could be obtained. These charges have remained unanswered until our primary (Democratic) meetings were held a few days since, when those Democrats who want his place so bad, began an open warfare against him. The Senator, however, was absent in Portland at the time, and when he returned he found, as did Moses when he came down from Mount Sinai, that during his absence, his people had fallen to worshiping a "copper(head) calf! And straightway did our Senator prepare a speech to be delivered at the next convocation of the Cove Democratic Club, which was a few days since.

Although his speech undoubtedly

"——Fell below
Demosthenes and Cicero"

in style, yet it must be admitted that he fully and satisfactorily explained his course in the last Legislature, and accounted for his money in other ways than those that are dark.

He admitted that he did draw the check for $3,000, but not for himself. It was handed to him in a sealed envelope, to be paid to those Democrats who had to be bought into the Democratic caucus for Kelly. So this totally exonerates Mr. Hendershott so far as the check is concerned; but who were the three men? "And," said the Senator, "this is hell-fired work to be telling on Democrats, but it must be told." He claimed that

"Among the faithless, faithful only he," whereas his opponents claim that

"Among the faithful, faithless only he."

After clearing his skirts of all these slanders on his character, he addressed a few words to his calumniators, the pyrotechnical qualities of which would burn any paper into shreds were I to attempt to record them. Before he was through, "pet names" covered the floor a foot deep. "But," he said, "Jesus, the Christ, the Saviour of mankind, the most immaculate being that ever planted His footsteps on the sea or rode upon a storm, whose heart was pure as snow just fallen to earth, and the very embodiment of virtue and innocence—even he, gentlemen, was calumniated by a low-flung set of infernal sons of b—s." A notable instance of going from the sublime to the ridiculous.

Inasmuch as this is the first explanation offered by any of the "leadin'" Democrats of the Legislature in regard to the immense "salting" going on, it is of some importance, and while Mr. Hendershott cleared himself, he implicated others whose names he withheld. This is the first move in Eastern Oregon, the result of which cannot be foreseen. The opposition to Mr. Hendershott is not honest, and if any Democrat is to go from Union county (which God forbid), a majority of her people would prefer him on account of his experience in legislative bodies. Will not some Southern Oregon Senator or Representative rise to a personal explanation in class-meeting? More anon. T. T. G.

GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS.

Wm. B. Astor has given $150,000 to the Astor Library to relieve its present wants.

The Tammany Ring stole not less than $12,000,000 in building and furnishing the New York Court House.

Fisk's personal friends have made a heavy subscription for a monumental concert on the largest scale.

About $3,000 worth of obscene books and pictures, and material for their manufacture, were seized in Brooklyn, N. Y., on the 4th.

Congress has appropriately voted to allow a ship owner to change the name of his vessel from the Wm. M. Tweed to something more odorous.

The whole brood of Tammany thieves are said to be residing at St. Catharines, Ont., where they are living and dissipating under assumed names, in princely style.

The new Tammany Society makes every member take an oath to guard the purity of the ballot box and discountenance bribery. Tammany will barely know herself.

Gov. Palmer, of Illinois, will be a candidate for renomination this year, and General Oglesby will take the field for the United States Senate against Mr. Trumbull. That Trumbull will be beaten is as certain as fate. No man in his position ever yet sustained himself.

The long divided and distracted States of Central America are learning that in union there is strength, and four of them, Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatemala, and San Salvador, have formed a confederation under a republican form of government. The pernicious doctrine of "State sovereignty," under which Jefferson and his followers claimed the right of each State to resume its independence at any time, is wisely denied, the compact leaving no power to recede from the union.

A remarkable coincidence is related by the Lebanon (Ky.) Standard. Wm. Peyton, aged about eighty years, a resident of Casey, was on his way to Cheif's Mill about three weeks ago, one windy day, and in passing through some heavy timber a falling limb struck him upon the head, which resulted in his death in a few hours. This same Peyton, about thirty years ago, struck his wife upon the head with an oven and killed her instantly, pretending that she had bewitched him. For this crime he was sent to the penitentiary, but was soon afterward pardoned on account of his craziness. His death occurred upon the same day of the week and month that his wife died many years before. So much for coincidence.

Still Another Remarkable Cure.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10, 1871

MR. A. M. LOPYEA & CO.—For two years I was afflicted with Rheumatism, and tried all the known remedies, but experienced nothing more than a temporary relief, the disease always returning. Some [illegible] I concluded to take your Unk Weed Remedy, and the result was a Speedy and Permanent Cure, the Rheumatism being entirely eradicated from the system. The "UNK" as also a Tonic of the very highest order. It increases the appetite, and invigorates the body. I heartily bear testimony to its good effect upon me, and feel sure that it will do all you claim for it.

Very truly yours,

Ordinance No. 1146.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING QUARTERLY ALlowances for each of the several Fire Companies belonging to the Fire Department.

The city of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. That each Engine Company using a Steam Fire Engine shall be allowed for the ordinary expenses of the company the sum of three hundred and seventy-five dollars per quarter.

Section 2. That each Engine Company using a Hand Engine shall be allowed for ordinary expenses of the company the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars per quarter.

Section 3. That each Hook and Ladder Company shall be allowed for ordinary expenses of the Company the sum of seventy-five dollars per quarter, and for gas consumed in lighting the house of the company the sum of fifteen dollars per quarter.

Section 4. The Auditor and Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to draw Warrants upon the Treasury quarterly in advance in favor of each of the several Fire Companies composing the Fire Department, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing sections of this ordinance, provided the first quarter shall date from April 1st, 1872.

Section 5. Ordinance No. 613 entitled "An Ordinance providing quarterly allowances for each of the several Fire Companies belonging to the Fire Department," passed Feb. 10th, 1869, also Ordinance No. 867, entitled "An Ordinance to amend Ordinance No. 613, entitled 'An Ordinance providing quarterly allowances for each of the several Fire Companies belonging to the Fire Department,'" passed March 22, 1871, are hereby repealed.

Passed the Common Council March 13, 1872.

THIRD ANNUAL COURSE OF

FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE Young Men's Christian Association.

AT THE

NEW MASONIC HALL,

Cor. Third and Alder Sts

Lecturers:

SYL. C. SIMPSON, Esq., Salem, April 1

THE SIXTH AND LAST LECTURE OF THE COURSE will be delivered on

Tuesday Evening, April 16th, 1872,

At 8 o'clock, by

SYL. C. SIMPSON, of Salem

SUBJECT—"The Geneva Conference."

The present attitude of England in relation to the Geneva Arbitration is such that it is not impossible that upon the decision of this tribunal may hinge the question of War between that nation and our own.

When the two high contracting parties met in the persons of their representatives at Washington, a leading American paper exclaimed "This is civilization!" It yet remains to be seen whether this was premature, or whether these nations by appealing for the third time to the arbitrament of arms, shall give the lie to their boasts of civilization.

The causes which led to, the questions to be submitted to, and the possible results arising from, the Geneva Conference, afford as fair a field for the orator as any combination of circumstances ever presented.

On Mr. SIMPSON's ability to bring out in strong relief the salient points of this subject it is unnecessary to dwell. Few men possess greater qualifications for the platform. His genius is of a high order, reinforced by a mind disciplined by study and broadened by extensive reading. His style is logical and correct, his imagination vivid, his language chaste, beautiful and abundant. His lectures are said to be [illegible] clean cut, symmetrical and well-sustained as to furnish

"Jewels, five words long,
That on the stretched fore-finger of all time,
Sparkle forever."

[illegible] agraph [illegible] the [illegible] system [illegible] telegraph [illegible] throughout the world The [illegible] and Telegraph [illegible] have [illegible] upon [illegible] community [illegible] the great man who has departed an name [illegible] believe specified Tuesday evening [illegible] for that purpose in order that there may [illegible] greatest [illegible] triumph of the [illegible] and to him who has by his labor been iden[illegible] with and stands at the head of American [illegible] It would be well that some notice be taken of this call by our people and a meeting be held in an appropriate place with addresses [illegible] in harmony with the spirit of the occasion [illegible] the Mayor or a committee of citizens [illegible] such call at a designated place [illegible] purpose We believe [illegible] would meet [illegible] hearty response in the community

NARROW ESCAPE—A couple of [illegible] children narrowly escaped being run over by a team yesterday The team was [illegible] in the act of [illegible] corner, and the children were crossing the street at the same time Without paying the least ap[illegible] attention to the children the follow [illegible] suddenly [illegible] The eldest of the two managed to get out of the way but the smallest child [illegible] would inevitably have been crushed to death [illegible] a passer had not darted forward in time to snatch the child from under the horses feet There is no disguising the fact that there is too much rapid and reckless driving in this city The ordinances relating to this matter should be rigidly enforced The right to the street belongs exclusively to the pedestrian when he or she is on the crosswalk—a fact which most all teamsters [illegible] to overlook

BLOWN THROUGH—A buck saw which was on board the steamboat R[illegible] when her boiler exploded yesterday was blown a distance of [illegible] or fifty yards In its [illegible] flight [illegible] came across a window in the side of a house which proceeded to go through Several shoe-makers were plying the hammer and last in an adjoining room The loud detonation of the boiler explosion and the simultaneous crash of the saw caused them to get up with much greater celerity than usual A broken sash and a momentary fright was all the damage done

COLD WEATHER—A gentleman who arrived on [illegible] from Ottawa county Ohio informs us that the people of that State have experienced a very severe winter He left about the middle of March The ground was frozen at that date to the depth of one foot and the ice on Lake Erie was over twenty inches in thickness Teams were crossing the lake at its widest place—a distance of about 70 miles After this piece of information the people of Webfoot ought not to complain of our climate

THE ADJOURNED MEETING—Our citizens will bear in mind that there will be held at the Court House on Monday evening an adjourned meeting of the legal voters of School District No 1 This meeting will be for the purpose of hearing the report of the Auditing Committee on the reports of the School Clerk and the Directors and for levying a school tax Let every legal voter and friend of popular education attend this meeting Important business will be on the tapis

MODEL CARD TABLE—The juvenile shiners who circulate the streets and accost every one with "Black your boots sir?" have invented a new and [illegible] card table [illegible] day we observed [illegible] of these young hopefuls seated on the sidewalk with a box between them deeply engrossed in the mysteries of a game of [illegible] We have a smart class of boys here Real geniuses in the way of inventing deviltry they are

ADDITIONAL BOOKS—The Portland Library has received the following presentations from Dr S Parker: Lord Bantam a satire by the author of Ginx's Baby and by C S Pettigrew Esq A splendid subscription copy of a work entitled Fifty Years in the Magic Circle by Signor Blitz beautifully illustrated with numerous engravings on wood, and a portrait of the author on steel the whole magnificently bound in green and gold

BRUISED HEAD—We observed yesterday in the lower part of the city an old [illegible] who had drank deeply and was suffering from several bricks in his hat Staggering around he slipped and fell The side of his head and face struck against the sharp corner of a post and inflicted a severe gash He lay prone and helpless until a friend came to his relief and took him away

HOTEL AT CORNELIUS—We learn that Mr Turpin, the present [illegible] host of the Union Hotel at Hillsboro will move about the first of May to the new town of Cornelius A large commodious hotel is now in process of construction at the latter place Mr Z Cushman a gentleman well known in this city will succeed Mr Turpin in the proprietorship of the Union [illegible]

CORPS OF ENGINEERS—Capt Max W[illegible] Corps of engineers engaged in running his proposed route of the North[illegible] Pacific Railroad along the north bank of the Columbia under Capt Bursey, were camped yesterday on the Washougal river Vancouver will probably be reached by the end of the present week

AN ERROR—In our report of the speech made by Mr Hayden night before last the type made us say that he Hayden [illegible] went for Grover [illegible] regard to his action in vetoing the Portland subsidy bill and opposing the Lock and Dam Swindle It should have been [illegible] the Lock and Dam Swindle

STUFFED EAGLE—A large grey eagle measuring from tip to tip about seven feet was killed some time since at Bellingham Bay His eagleship was stuffed by some amateur taxidermist and the bold bird of liberty was brought up on the last trip of the Cal[illegible]

LECTURE—George [illegible] Smith Esq will deliver a lecture before the members of the Willamette Society at its rooms this evening at [illegible] o'clock His subject has been announced as Want of Individuality of Americans [illegible] members are requested to invite their friends

FOR WALLA WALLA—A sixteen horse power engine and boiler was shipped to Walla Walla on Thursday The work was put up at the W[illegible] Iron Works and is intended to be employed in propelling a sawmill and shingle factory

VICTORIA C WOODHULL—We learn that this noted female lecturess contemplates a visit to the Western States this year including California and Oregon If this is true all here will be afforded an opportunity to hear her lecture

AVOIDED—In the report of the possum b[illegible] w[illegible] of Thursday evening the H[illegible] [illegible] studiously avoided to allude to the [illegible] in Mr Hayden's speech It was like the play of Hamlet with the Danish Prince left out

EMIGRANTS—The [illegible] brought about one hundred emigrants [illegible] They came with the object in view of permanent settlement Numbers came from [illegible] and some of the [illegible] farther south

ARRIVED—The steamer [illegible] the river yesterday with [illegible] They were brought [illegible] cabins and will be taken [illegible]

SPECIAL CHURCH NOTICES

CHURCH SERVICES—There will be the usual services morning and evening in the Unitarian Church corner of Seventh and Yamhill The subject of the evening discourse (the series of doctrinal sermons being intermitted for this purpose) will be suggested by the death of Prof S F B Morse the inventor of the magnetic telegraph

DANGER OF DE[illegible]—One of the real estate agents of this city—of course his name is omitted for obvious reasons—expressed grave [illegible] that real estate was bound to depreciate on account of the momentary [illegible] created by the explosion yesterday of the boiler of the little steamer R[illegible] The late [illegible] in California was not [illegible] in public memory to be overlooked even in the excitement of the moment We are gratified to note [illegible] that confidence in the probable [illegible] has been materially shaken We are bound to say that that agent is not the prophet nor yet the son of one

A NEEDED ACCOMMODATION—During the late inclement weather we have noticed a large number of people standing in the rain and mud at the foot of Stark street waiting for the ferryboat thereby [illegible] who were provided [illegible] by the ferry company [illegible] expenditure [illegible] those to find shelter who are thus compelled to wait on the boat [illegible] and we are sure [illegible] the company would receive the thanks of the public [illegible] When the trips of the boat [illegible] much time such an accommodation seems to be a very necessary measure

[illegible] We have had the pleasure of seeing the [illegible] painting of M[illegible] Hood and surrounding scenery in the office of Geo [illegible] A Reed [illegible] few days ago [illegible]

C[illegible]—This [illegible] town [illegible] improving It now contains two hotels one [illegible] blacksmith shop two stores and three more under way one saloon a boot and shoe shop [illegible] dwelling houses a large [illegible] passenger and freight depot and last but not least a good Temple [illegible]

BOILER EXPLOSION

The boiler of the little tug [illegible] exploded yesterday afternoon about [illegible] o'clock At the time of the explosion the [illegible] was moored at the foot of Morrison street [illegible] had been started [illegible] up steam [illegible] before the explosion [illegible]

[illegible] When [illegible] He was [illegible] he was [illegible] and Chinaman [illegible] The top of the cabin was [illegible] and the articles of bedding life preservers, etc [illegible] were picked up and saved until boats could [illegible] them [illegible] were attached to the wreck and fastened to the wharf to prevent the current from sweeping everything away

The report of the explosion was heard all over the city Many supposed it to be the signal gun [illegible] imagined it to be the slight [illegible] of an earthquake Great excitement prevailed [illegible] the true cause of the report became known for a steam boiler explosion is a luxury which the people of Portland are not [illegible] with every day The occurrence was robbed of a more serious feature in not resulting in the death of any one connected with the boat Under the circumstances it appears but little short of a miracle that no one was fatally injured or killed The R[illegible] was owned by Messrs Hamill and Lewis The loss is a total one and is estimated at about $3,000 No insurance The boat was built [illegible] Her boiler was thirteen feet long and manufactured of plate iron one fourth of an inch thick [illegible] was inspected on the 25th of last November and subjected to a hydrostatic pressure of 150 pounds per inch The certificate of inspection entitled her to carry with safety 100 pounds of steam More recently the boiler was subjected to a cold pressure of [illegible] pounds and stood the test without starting a bolt The engineer is of the opinion that the explosion was attributable to the fact that the end of the steam drum had been allowed to become a little loose and the defective spot had enabled the steam at the low pressure of forty pounds its force [illegible] way through the seam

AMUSEMENTS

THE BENEFIT—Columbian Hose Company No 3 have occasion to sincerely congratulate themselves on the very flattering results of the complimentary benefit tendered them by Manager Waldron at the Oro Fino Theater last night The Streets of New York was rendered in first class style and a densely crowded house attended The fire scene was most thrillingly carried through and won intense applause The benefit in every sense was a substantial success and the proceeds realized will no doubt greatly aid the enterprising boys toward procuring a more suitable uniform

Tender and true—[illegible]

A Poison and its Antidote

The traveler Loudon gives [illegible] interesting account of the famous [illegible] valley in the island of Java [illegible] We took with us some dogs and fowls to try experiments in this poisonous hollow When [illegible] a few yards of the valley we [illegible] strong [illegible] smell, but in coming close to its edge this disagreeable odor left us The valley appeared to be about half a mile in circumference oval and the depth from thirty to thirty five feet the bottom [illegible] vegetation, and the whole covered with the skeletons of human beings tigers pigs deer peacocks, and all sorts of birds We now fastened a dog to the end of a bamboo eighteen feet long and sent him in—we had our watches in our hands and in fourteen seconds he fell on his back, did not move his limbs or look around but continued to [illegible] eighteen minutes We then sent in another, or rather he got loose and walked in to where the other dog was lying He then stood quite still, and in ten minutes fell on his face and never afterward moved his limbs He continued to [illegible] seven minutes We now tried a fowl which died in a minute and half We threw in another which died before touching the ground On the opposite side [of the valley] near a large stone was the skeleton of a human being who must have perished on his back with his right hand under his head From being exposed to the weather the bones were bleached as white as ivory. I was anxious to procure this skull [illegible], but any attempt to get it would have been madness

The old legend in regard to this valley was that a poisonous tree grew here named the Upas, and if any one approached it the result was sure death Subsequent investigation, however, proved the incorrectness of the [illegible] in regard to the tree, but not, as it seems, in regard to the deadliness of the place Nor was this latter exaggerated but its cause examination proved to be merely the overloading of the air with carbonic acid gas. The origin of the gas has been supposed to be from some vent in the earth supplying the gas faster than it can be dissipated in the air, though the traveler just quoted says we could not perceive any vapor or any opening in the ground Nevertheless this gas is known to be an abundant product of volcanic action, and from some such interior source it may be conveyed to this spot faster than it is conveyed away

But why are there not many such poisonous valleys in the world? The number of volcanic vents is great, and they are continually send forth this same deadly product Yet farther, so far as this material is concerned, every fire is a volcano continually spitting this gas as its chief product and the amount of the whole may be judged by the fact that an average sized blast-furnace will send forth at least two tons every hour Still further, every pair of lungs is a little furnace adding no inconsiderable quota, for the [illegible] of a population like that in New York will produce no less than four thousand tons every day, and, the world over, animal [illegible] produce fully twice as much as the human. Still further, the various processes of fermentation and decay are pouring into the air four times as much of this gas as the human [illegible] produce Altogether, the best [illegible] make the daily production of carbonic acid gas from these latter sources no less than eleven thousand million pounds and this in addition to what may be produced from any sources within the earth Surely in view of such numbers we might ask why should not the whole surface of the earth be [illegible] at length a Upas valley? Such indeed it would have become, not within the period of man's creation, but since the earth's first [illegible] but since the earth's first creation, had it not been for a wonderful provision which has been made for the consumption of this gas as fast as produced A poison to all animal life it is the indispensable food of all vegetable life However much therefore, the former may send forth into the atmosphere, the latter is ready to absorb it all We are amazed at the immense sum which represents the whole amount produced but we are no less surprised at some of the figures which tell of the amount required to sustain all the plants which are growing upon the earth These all are provided with little mouths scattered thickly over their leaves which suck in the carbonic acid from the air, and, under the influence of the sun light resolve it again into its elements, retaining the carbon to build up the plant but sending out the oxygen to be breathed over by man or animal or to sustain a flame, which will freight it again with carbon for still another use of the plant And thus the endless interchange goes on The [illegible] of man is kept up by this [illegible] of the plant, and the plant is sustained by the waste from the system of the destruction of some other plant

The number of [illegible] little hungry mouths which the vegetable world opens to take up man's poison, but its food, is perhaps the most wonderful thing in all this story of beneficent wonders. "A single common lilac tree has a million leaves, and about four hundred thousand millions of pores or mouths at work, sucking in carbonic acid while on a single oak tree as many as seven million [illegible] have been counted With such a con[illegible] the [illegible] production does not [illegible] too great The two are exactly balanced. The [illegible] pure the plants are all fed.

[illegible] Husbandry

1st There is a wonderful difference between the well doing of a small and large flock of sheep The small flock will often do [illegible] well, whilst the large one will fail in health and comparative profit and advantage I am not prepared to say why this is but all experienced farmers will concede this point.

2d. Sheep will not do so well closed up in any yard or pen no matter how well arranged it may be, as they will if allowed to roam about and have plenty of air and room Out door exercise seems to suit them far better than a yard with but little space to run about Where the winters are long and the snow covers the ground for many months sheep are prevented getting at the earth of which they naturally consume a great deal and nature seems to require such a medicine or change of diet

3d Bran that is old or has been heated or has become a little musty is highly injurious to sheep, and must never be given, it will often produce severe scouring in the middle of winter When one sheep is thus affected the rest will often become infected also

4th Any disease that affects one sheep will infect the whole flock even when not thought to be infectious

5th In many localities sheep will no do well even with the same care as elsewhere under the same treatment whereas in some places sheep seem to thrive without any special cause of great care Of this there is no doubt, and we see it continually made apparent Adapting the breed to suit the locality will do much to assist but young sheep farmers must not think because they see sheep doing so well and costing so little in some places without care that their flocks will thrive well under similar treatment

6th It is a great mistake to suppose that sheep can do without water or that they are better without it. It is so far true, as that sheep are certainly injured by drinking water in large quantities at irregular intervals, and many are made sick thereby but if water is always before them so that they can drink a little at a time as wanted, they will seldom or never hurt themselves Watering once a day will not do they will often hurt themselves by drinking too much when supplied at such long intervals When fed with roots, there is no occasion for water—90 per cent of such food is water, and is taken in small quantities and often —Cor Canada Farmer

The scarcity of loanable funds here continues and much embarrassment is caused thereby But it is notable that in San Francisco the exact reverse is true. Latest mail intelligence from San Francisco gives this The supply of loanable funds on this market is evidently on the increase and capitalists are becoming somewhat bothered to place their surplus moneys in securities offering anything like the rates heretofore current. Large loans have been effected during the past week at 8 per cent and the opinion is gaining ground that the parties who now hold back in the hope of making more advantageous placements in the near future will be glad to accept the terms they now feign to refuse with something akin to contempt. Nevertheless, quotations as far as the outside world is concerned appear to have undergone no marked change the Commercial Banks asking 1 per cent. and the savings institutions holding out for 8 to 10 per cent on a monthly repayable basis Foreign capital is flowing toward this market in considerable amounts but in a manner not to excite general attention the greater portion being in the hands of private individuals whose interest it is not to give it too much publicity

The San Francisco Call has a sensible article on drying fruit for market, from which we take the following

We have been requested by commission merchants to call the attention of fruit-growers to the fact that there is a constant demand in this market for dried pitted Plums while those cured with the pits in are at present [illegible] and are at all times sold with difficulty or anything like remunerative prices There has recently been considerable inquiry for pitted Plums from Eastern buyers at 15 [illegible] and it is thought that almost any amount could be disposed of at these figures while it would be difficult to place ordinary lots with the [illegible] at [illegible] packages in which dried fruit is marketed has much to do with the price obtained for it Many producers [illegible] the fruit usually sells for from two to four cents a pound less than when packed in neat boxes A convenient package for Plums is a box which holds 50 pounds and into which the fruit should be quite firmly pressed We cannot too strongly impress upon those who prepare fruit for market the necessity of neatness in this respect It frequently happens that two lots are received equal everything except the packing and while one sells readily at remunerative rates the other is disposed of with difficulty at a figure that is unsatisfactory to both merchants and shippers There is probably no fruit that promises to be more permanently remunerative than the Plum

These remarks ought to be heeded in Oregon In no part of the world does the Plum grow in greater abundance or perfection than in this State and large quantities ought to be prepared annually in the best style, for market

A San Francisco commercial writer speaking of Iron puts this inquiry Why do not the Oswego Iron Works in Oregon fire up and furnish supplies of Pig Iron When they stopped years ago the reason given was that it could not be produced for less than $50 per ton now it is worth $60 or $70

We have the following from San Francisco in regard to Quicksilver

It is now said by parties in interest that all negotiations looking to the control of the market have been transferred to the East. Daniel Drew of New York has recently been elected President of the Quicksilver Company and the stock greatly advanced within the past few months say from 15@20 up to 40 From a party interested in the production of Quicksilver upon this coast we learn that the monthly yield is now only 2 100 flasks and the coast demand 2 200 flasks, and reasoning from this standpoint it is probable that no [illegible] will take place On the contrary the combination pay the producers more than [illegible] and charge the consumer a bigger profit than [illegible] that the price will be 96c rather than 85 [illegible]

The [illegible]

2 That [illegible] affairs [illegible] enforcing the laws with [illegible] favor [illegible] towards [illegible] against the cruel system of speculation and fraud and maintain friendly relations with Foreign Powers has [illegible] the approbation of the great majority of the American people, and justly entitle it to the confidence and commendation of every true Republican

3 We regard the payment [illegible] in full compliance with all legal obligations [illegible] in every [illegible] and [illegible] accordance with the true letter [illegible] of the contracting [illegible] no longer a question [illegible] issue but that we may be clearly understood we denounce all forms and degrees of repudiation of that debt as affirmed by the Democratic party and its sympathizers as not only not an [illegible] but positive crimes and we will never consent to a suspicion of lack of honor or [illegible] in its complete satisfaction

4 We admit of no distinctions between citizens [illegible] native or foreign birth and therefore we [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] States [illegible] and we here pledge the [illegible] and effective protection [illegible] all persons voluntarily coming to or residing [illegible] our land

5 We favor the [illegible] government of the United States and hold that [illegible] disposition of the public lands as shall secure [illegible] actual settlers only [illegible] [illegible]

6 That while we are in favor of a revenue for the support [illegible] General Government by duties upon imports equal [illegible] adjustment of those duties [illegible] the development of the industrial [illegible] the whole country and we recommend that a policy of national exchange which secures to the working man liberal wages [illegible] agriculture remunerative prices [illegible] to mechanics and manufacturers an adequate reward for their skill labor and enterprise and to the Nation commercial prosperity and independence

7 We believe that [illegible] has [illegible] the people and all ev[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] other than the [illegible] [illegible] Legislature [illegible] corporation consisting mainly of Democratic leaders and party [illegible] other [illegible] are entirely and [illegible] ferred to construct [illegible] seventy five thousand dollars [illegible] and that we are [illegible] favor of the passage by the Legislature of an efficient school law such as shall secure to all citizens of our State a good common school education

8 We find no terms sufficiently strong to express our disapproval of those acts of the last Legislature whereby the swamp lands belonging to this State have been taken from the needy settlers and given without limit or proper competition to private land grabbers and speculators whereby the emoluments and salaries of State officers have been unconstitutionally increased and the taxes increased thousands of dollars by the creation of new and unnecessary offices and salaries for the purpose of providing for party favorites and whereby the citizens of our metropolis have been deprived of and denied the right of controlling their police authority And we equally condemn the administration of our State officers and laws as extravagant, reckless illegal and destructive and we rightfully charge all those results as the acts of the Democratic party

9 We are in favor of the United States giving to each honorably discharged soldier who served in the army of the United States to put down the rebellion a warrant for a homestead of 160 acres of public lands

10 That we demand the repeal of the so called libel [illegible] act which was devised to support pauper Democratic newspapers at the public expense.

11 That the Republican party of this State are in favor of the General Government extending aid toward building a railroad from Portland Oregon to Salt Lake City and from Jackson county to Humboldt and we hereby pledge our party representatives to the support of the same

12 That the indiscriminate censing of persons to [illegible] without being placed under proper responsibility for the abuse thereof [illegible] [illegible] the growth of crime and pauperism and the ety [illegible] increase the rate of [illegible] the rights and duty of the law [illegible] the [illegible] and abuses [illegible] liberty [illegible]

13 [illegible]

14 [illegible] in power [illegible] [illegible] State [illegible] nation freed from the taint of slavery [illegible] national standing at home and abroad [illegible] abuses [illegible] and [illegible] and to the popular [illegible] peace and prosperity [illegible]

15 We hail [illegible] the Republican party has contended [illegible] the [illegible] already assumed [illegible] the States [illegible] acknowledgment [illegible] Presidential campaign.
